Why to study?

Started to Study English from About 5 Years Ago(2009).

- Reasons
 - To talk with foreigners on the Internet and the real world.
 - To sell our services to outside of Japan.

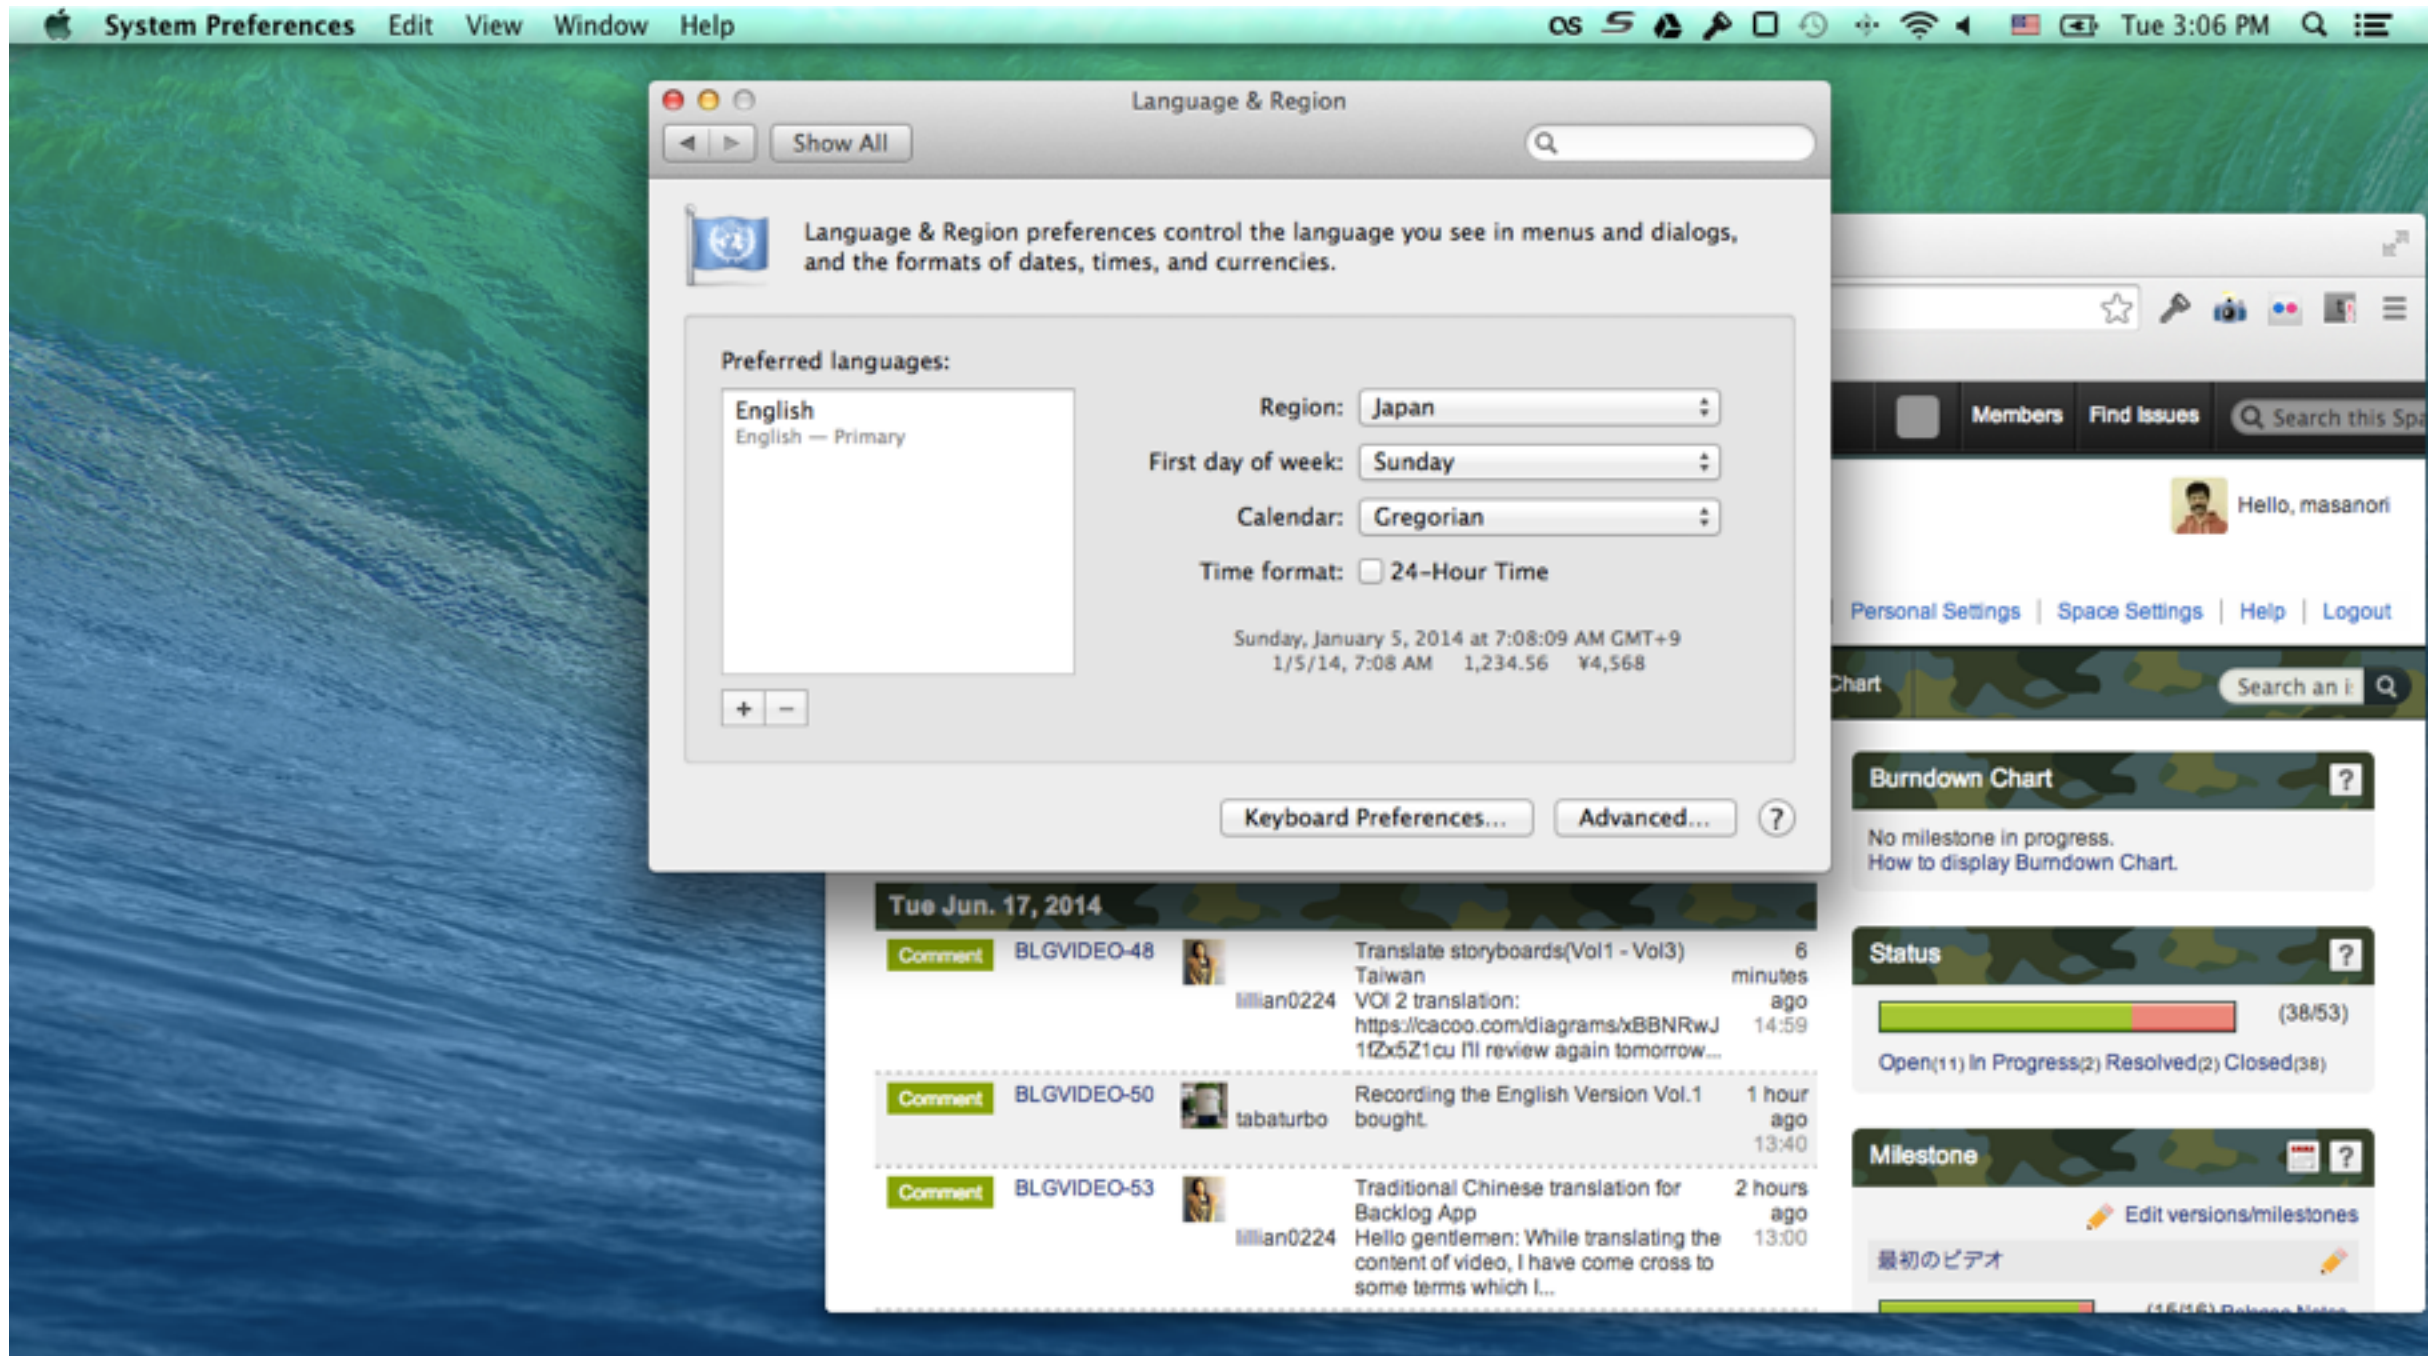

A torn, irregular piece of yellow paper is positioned diagonally across the frame. The paper has several small holes and frayed edges, suggesting it has been damaged or discarded. The background is a dark, textured blue surface.

Don't Study, Change the Life.

Japan lost in soccer.
However, the Japanese supporter disposes of garbage.
It is our rules.

WHERE IS MASANORI?

My Status Update

Blog in English.

My friend said we have some ideas but we can't do it.

Just thinking can never make things happen in the real world.
We need to do action.

Always, thinking is faster than doing action.
So, we feel that our actions are slow or we couldn't do actions.
However, in my opinion, we are doing action step by step.

We have to think something deeply, and do it lightly.

Setup Play Framework 2.2 in Scala IDE for Eclipse 3.0

by masanori on April 23, 2014 in Environment • 0 Comments

Heard that Twitter, Foursquare and Typetalk are running on Play Framework, written in Java and Scala. I'll try it with Scala IDE for Eclipse which is installed on my MacBook Air.

Play Framework is an open source, makes it easy to build web applications with Java and Scala.

My setup is Mac OS X 10.9.2, Java 1.8.0_05, Scala 2.11, and Eclipse 4.2 (Juno) with Scala IDE 3.0. If you don't install Eclipse and Scala IDE, read Setting up Scala IDE for Eclipse.

Let's Play!

Installing Play Framework 2.2 on Mac

Run this command.

1 | brew install play

Installing the Play2 support in Scala IDE

Open installing new software window.
